stories behind the songs

“it’s still the blood”

This song was inspired by an evangelist during a revival. He suddenly said, “People wake up and realize that ‘It’s Still The Blood! Jesus Is your answer!’.” With sadness, I began to realize that so many people still do not understand this concept!

“more than clay”

“More Than Clay was inspired by attending a funeral and seeing the clay around the casket at the grave site. It was a beautiful realization knowing that we were molded from clay, but Jesus covered us with his Blood. Now, we are more than just clay. We are redeemed, a divine miracle.

“even now”

A preacher told the story about a young man who was giving his mother problems. The young man came in to the house one day and said “Mom, I need your heart.” She said, “Son you have my heart.” He said, “Mom, you don’t understand, I physically need your heart, because it is tradition in order for me to get initiated into the club that I am trying to join.” With tears in her eyes, the mother said, “Okay, Son, reach and get that knife behind you and you may have my heart.” The young man did as his mother told him, then he went off running toward the club with his mother’s heart. On the way he became very guilt riddled for what he just done, so he dropped his mother’s heart and took off running. However, with every step he took, his mother’s heart was right behind him crying out, “Stop, Son, I love you!” How my tears began to flow at this mother’s love and to know that Jesus loves us even more than that. Even now, after all we have done to Christ, He still loves us!

“Lord, save me a spot”

During a very low spot in my life, I just really needed to be as humble as a child and sit on my savior’s lap. I needed talk to Him and have the desire to be at His feet through all eternity. I want to do all of this because He saved me. HE SAVED ME!

“it is time, my child”

I was a guest at a wedding when this song came to me. As we had worked so very diligently to prepare the wedding feast and prepare a perfect ceremony and a blemish free bride to present to the groom, my mind wandered to the wedding feast of the marriage supper of the Lamb! How Jesus is calling to all of us to ‘Rise Up And Adorn Ourselves’, because He is returning to gather us to become His Bride!
